Meet Rapunzel

The courageous and creative princess who never gives up.

Rapunzel's story:

Rapunzel has amazingly long, golden hair that has magic powers. She lives in a tower with Mother Gothel, who kidnapped Rapunzel when she was a baby. Her only friend is a colour-changing chameleon called Pascal. Although Rapunzel loves to paint and make things, she is lonely and longs to explore the world outside. Then, one day, the handsome Flynn Rider makes a surprise appearance in the tower and Rapunzel embarks on an amazing adventure - one that will change her life forever.

Pascal is a true friend to Rapunzel. He is always by her side and eager to make her happy.

Flying Escape

1 When Rapunzel visited the city for the first time, she wanted to see everything. However, Flynn was worried about being caught by the palace guards.

2 The guards wanted to arrest Flynn for stealing, so he hurried Rapunzel on every time he spotted them. "With so much to see, we should keep moving," Flynn urged.

3 "I know an excellent place full of flowers and butterflies." Flynn told Rapunzel, leading her to a nearby park.

4 Rapunzel had never seen so many beautiful flowers. "It's like a dream," she said. Just then, the guards appeared.

6 The view from the observation point took Rapunzel's breath away. "You can see the wonderful palace," she sighed.

7 Just then, Flynn handed Rapunzel a bunch of flowers he had picked and the pair looked into each other's eyes ...

8 ... but the romantic moment ended when Flynn saw the guards coming towards them again.

9 "There's still so much to see," Flynn said. "Let's go!" Rapunzel, however, wanted to stay in the park.

10 "Let's be like the butterflies and check every flower in the park," she said excitedly.

11 Just then, Rapunzel leapt from the observation point with Flynn beside her. "We can't be butterflies without flying," she giggled.

12 Rapunzel's magical hair had saved them from falling and saved Flynn from the guards. "There's plenty more to see," Flynn said. "You just never know what's around the next corner!"

But Cinderella's luck changes when her Fairy Godmother appears! With a wave of her magic wand, she dresses Cinderella in a beautiful ballgown and glass slippers and sends her to the ball. Cinderella dances with Prince Charming all night. She dashes away at midnight, before the magic wears off, but loses a glass slipper on the way. The Welcome Ball

Enjoy this story about making new friends the Cinderella way!

Cinderella was feeling excited. She was arranging a ball at the palace. As she worked, Cinderella saw a mouse she didn't recognise scurry across the floor. Gus and Jaq shouted hello, but the little creature had already disappeared into a mouse hole in the corner of the ballroom.

"Who was that?" asked Cinderella.
"She's new to the palace," explained Gus.
"I think she's a bit shy. She hasn't made any friends yet."
"Oh dear," said Cinderella.
"She must be feeling lonely. I have an idea that will help her get to know everyone."

Cinderella started to plan a ball for the mice, too. She wrote out mouse-sized invitations that Gus and Jaq delivered to all of the palace mice. Everyone wanted to come to the ball, except for the new mouse, who didn't reply to her invitation. Gus and Jaq felt disappointed.

"Don't worry," said Cinderella. "I will go and talk to her."

Cinderella found the little mouse in one of the palace corridors. She looked a bit sad, so Cinderella stooped down and picked her up.

"Hello," said Cinderella, gently. "Did you receive an invitation to the mouse ball? I know that lots of mice would love to meet you. I hope you're going to come?"

The mouse pointed to her plain, old dress and shook her head silently. Cinderella immediately understood that the mouse felt that she couldn't go to the ball because she didn't have anything special to wear!

She got out her sewing box and a piece of pretty fabric and started to create a tiny ballgown for her new friend. She even made a matching golden tiara. The mouse was thrilled! She thanked Cinderella with a shy kiss on the cheek.

That evening, the palace was full of dancing people and mice! Cinderella's new friend looked so sweet in her special dress and she was soon joining in the fun. Cinderella couldn't help noticing that she danced with Gus for most of the night!

"I think the new mouse has found her prince!" Cinderella said to Prince Charming. "It's like a dream come true - and it just goes to show that anyone can be a fairy godmother!"

Meet Ariel

The curious princess who dares to dream the impossible.

Ariel's story:

Little mermaid Ariel lives in a wonderful underwater world. She longs to explore the land where humans live, and this worries her father, King Triton. One day, Ariel rescues a young prince called Eric from stormy seas. She drags Eric safely to shore and returns to the water, leaving him only the memory of her beautiful singing voice.

From that moment on, Ariel secretly daydreams about Eric, who she has fallen in love with. But how will she ever persuade her father to support her quest to be with a human in a life above the waves?

Wise ruler and loving father, King Triton finds it hard to let his adventurous daughter go and start a new life in Eric's world.

Use underwater colours to make Ariel look her best.

Flounder is Ariel's best friend. He is a little nervy, but always swims to the rescue when Ariel needs him.

Prince Eric is kind and brave. He loves to go on sailing adventures with his dog, Max.

Ariel says:

"Always stay true to yourself, but close to the ones you love."

Ariel is shown in a circular frame on the left, looking towards the title. Above the title is a small illustration of Ariel's castle. The title "Underwater Show" is written in a large, stylized, purple font with a white outline, surrounded by green vine-like decorations and small star-like sparkles.

Underwater Show

Write your name in the spaces before you start reading this story and become Ariel's princess friend!

It was King Triton's birthday and Ariel was organizing a special parade to celebrate. Her friend, Princess..... helped her gather together the sea creatures. "Please listen," Ariel said. "You will swim in a certain order for the parade, so you must remember where your place is." Princess..... had just put the dolphin at the end of the long line when Ariel's sister, Andrina, appeared.

"This is all wrong," she declared. "The dolphin should be at the front, not the back!"

The sea horses leading the parade looked disappointed. The dolphin felt uncomfortable about taking their place. Ariel didn't want to upset Andrina or any of the creatures. "I have an idea," said Princess..... . She whispered it to Ariel and Andrina, who clapped their hands in excitement. Later that day, King Triton sat on his throne waiting for the parade. But instead, the sea creatures began to perform a display that looked like colourful fireworks!

King Triton was thrilled to see such a brilliant show. "Thank you, Princess.....," said Ariel. "Everyone is happy now."

Jasmine feels trapped by her life as a princess. She wants to marry for love and explore the world outside the palace of Agrabah, but this goes against the wishes of her father. He wants to arrange a royal marriage for his daughter. Jasmine's chance for adventure comes when she goes on a wonderful magic carpet ride with the handsome Prince Ali. Later, she learns that he is actually Aladdin in disguise - a poor street boy, who had once come to Jasmine's rescue when she had sneaked into the marketplace. Meet Aurora

The graceful princess who loves to dance.

Aurora's story:

Aurora believes she is a peasant girl called Briar Rose. She lives in a cottage in the forest and is cared for by her aunts, who are really the three good fairies: Flora, Fauna and Merryweather. They protect Aurora from a wicked curse that was put on her as a baby princess. Aurora is gentle and sweet and sings and dances with her friends, the woodland animals.

Yet as Aurora approaches her sixteenth birthday, she longs to leave the forest and fall in love. And when the dangers of the outside world leave her cursed to sleep forever, it is only a kiss from Aurora's true love that can save her.

Prince Phillip is a real hero. He loves Aurora and risks his life to save her from the evil magic of bad fairy, Maleficent.

Colour in Aurora to make her look beautiful.

Flora and Fauna gave baby Aurora the gifts of beauty and song. Merryweather's gift was to weaken the wicked curse.

The forest animals love and trust their friend, Aurora. They especially enjoy to watch her sing and dance.

Aurora says:

"Be content with what you have and you will find true happiness one day."

Aurora, a blonde princess in a pink dress, is shown in a decorative, swirling frame. The frame is adorned with floral and scrollwork patterns. The title "Flower Confetti" is written in a large, stylized, cursive font, with a small castle silhouette above the letter 'F'.

Flower Confetti

There are beautiful blooms everywhere as the whole kingdom joins in Aurora's royal celebrations!

One day, everyone throughout Aurora's kingdom came out to see Aurora travel across the land in her carriage. It was a special occasion as it was the anniversary of the royal wedding.

Everybody cheered and waved flags, and a girl ran over to present Aurora with a special bouquet of flowers.

"Thank you," Aurora said, smelling the beautiful flowers.

As Aurora stepped back into her coach, a boy ran over and gave Aurora another bouquet of flowers.

"For a beautiful princess," the boy blushed.

Before she knew it, other children had presented her with more and more flowers. It seemed that everyone in the crowd had brought flowers for Aurora!

Before long, there were so many flowers that Aurora could hardly fit inside the royal coach.

"What are you going to do with all these flowers?" the driver asked, as the horses trotted back to the palace.

“It seems a shame to throw them all away, your highness.”

Suddenly, Aurora had a great idea and asked the driver to stop the coach. Aurora decorated the coach with the pretty flowers - it looked lovely!

Later, when people saw the decorated coach on its way to the palace, they all cheered. Aurora scattered more petals from the carriage and they fluttered all about her like confetti.

“Doesn’t Aurora’s coach look and smell wonderful?” one lady remarked.

When Aurora reached the palace, she saw more people waiting for her with yet more flowers.

“Well, I guess a princess can never have too many flowers,” Aurora giggled, making the coach driver laugh loudly.

Meet Snow White

Snow White's story:

Although she is a princess, Snow White has a wicked stepmother, the Queen, who wants to kill her. Snow White finds safety in a cottage in the forest where the Seven Dwarfs live. The caring princess cooks and cleans for them. The woodland creatures love Snow White's cheerful singing and soon she has lots of new friends. But, dressed in disguise, the Queen visits Snow White and gives her a poisoned apple. Trusting Snow White bites into the apple and falls into a magical sleep. Only a special kiss from her first love can wake and rescue her.

Snow White says:

*"If you are kind and caring,
you will be loved in return."*

Forest Makeover

1 One day, Snow White set off for the Dwarfs' cottage to give them some delicious homemade jam. As she walked through the forest, she found that a tree had fallen over and blocked her path.

2 "I'll have to go a different way," Snow White said. So she clambered down a muddy path and tried to find another way to the Dwarfs' cottage.

3 The path was steep and even the forest animals were frightened to use it. Snow White felt ever so lost. Just then, Snow White slipped and slid down the hill.

4 The caring forest creatures rushed to help Snow White ...

5 ... and they bravely worked together to lead Snow White along the strange path to the Dwarfs' cottage.

6 When Snow White reached the Dwarfs' cottage and gave them her jam, she explained what had happened. "The path was so dangerous," she said. "It's no wonder no one uses it."

7 "We could clear away the fallen tree and make the path safe," Doc said. The Dwarfs picked up their tools and marched into the forest, singing, "Heigh ho! Heigh ho!"

8 Once Snow White had shown them the fallen tree, the Dwarfs quickly cleared it away, chopping it into logs.

9 The Dwarfs turned the logs into useful things. They made steps for the steep path, a birdhouse and a bench. Snow White even planted some flowers!

10 There was one last thing to do. The Dwarfs put up a sign to show people where each path went. "Now, no one need ever feel lost again," Snow White cheered. Just then, the Prince came trotting along on his horse.

11 "I don't remember taking this path before," the Prince said.

12 So, with Sneezy leading the way, Snow White showed the Prince the new path. "In the past I've always taken the quickest route through the forest," the Prince said.

13 "Then you've always missed the prettiest part." Snow White told him. As she spoke, they found themselves beside a hidden waterfall on a beautiful lake.

14 "Well, I guess you never know what's around the next bend," the Prince said, giving Snow White a flower. "I'm so excited that we can find out together," Snow White replied, with a smile.
